1. Nature of the tasks

The Directorate-General for Energy works towards ensuring secure, sustainable, competitive and affordable energy for all EU citizens and the economy. Its policies play a central role in the implementation of the European Green Deal. They help the EU meet its ambitious climate and energy targets and contribute to achieving climate-neutrality by 2050.

Within Directorate C 'Green Transition and Energy System Integration', unit ENER C.1 "Renewables and Energy System Integration" conceives, implements and coordinates policies related to renewables and Energy System Integration, including hydrogen, with the goal of decarbonising the energy system. The unit is in charge of the renewables policy across economic sectors such as power generation, heating and cooling, transport and industry, including financing and regional cooperation.

The unit oversees the implementation of the Renewable Energy Directive as well as the on-going work on the revision of the Directive in the context of the Fit for 55% package in close cooperation with other units across ENER.

Unit C1's main tasks include:

- Overall European System Integration policy development, including coordination, follow-up and monitoring of implementation of Energy System Integration and Hydrogen Strategies
- Overall coordination related to the Renewable Energy Directive, including implementation as well as revision in the context of the Fit for 55% package
- Monitoring and EU action related to achievement of the targets for RES shares in 2020 and 2030
- Mainstreaming renewables, including hydrogen, across various sectors, such as electricity, heating and cooling, transport and industry
- Transport electrification and coordination of ENER position related to electro-mobility
- Consumer oriented policies on renewables – Self-consumption, Renewable Energy Communities and Corporate PPAs

- Regional cooperation, identification of RES projects and monitoring of their implementation, also in the context of regional High Level Groups and other regional groupings
- Fostering Cross-Border RES through CEF-RES and the Renewable Energy Financing Mechanism.

In this context, we offer an interesting position of an economic / policy officer. S/he will contribute to the development of the EU policies for renewables and their integration across the energy system. S/he will analyse their economic impacts, monitor development and deployment of renewables across sectors, use economic analysis to analyse investments, costs, scale of cost-efficient deployment, etc. S/he will also contribute to the development of policies related to the energy system integration as well as renewable fuels, such as hydrogen. S/he will draft briefings, notes, papers, reports, evaluations and impact assessments, often in coordination with other units.
